“I have subscribed to [FactCite: Lincoln Library Online] for the past four years in my capacity as both a High School Librarian (9-12) and in my current capacity as a Middle School Librarian (5-6). I have found these databases to be useful to both teachers and students in both settings. These databases feature easy to navigate interfaces and content that enhances a variety of curricular topics or can be used by a general researcher.

All of the databases offer multiple methods of indexing: keyword searching, advanced searching and custom subject lists for each database. The larger font of the articles makes them easy to read but the articles are informative enough for anyone from grades 4 to adult. For example, the home page of the American Civil War database features a visually appealing, interactive timeline allowing the user to click on any topic. The articles range from one to two paragraph overviews to multi-page, in-depth articles. Lincoln Library Press has added many graphics - clipart, photos and sketches (black/white and color) to further enhance the visual experience.

Also, the Lincoln Library of Sports Champions provides extensive biographies for every sport possible from Archery to Wheel Chair athletes, both past and present. Most articles provide recommended book titles and web sites for further study. Like the American Civil War database, the articles include black/white or color photos.

Factcite: Lincoln Library Online has easy-to-use interfaces and content that will appeal to multiple users, it is a “go to” research source.

Donald W. King, MLS, Moss Side Middle School Library, Pennsylvania

“I will be ordering The Lincoln Library of Shapers of Society plus the FactCite Book Companion. In these tight budget times, this seems like a really good deal. And I think both the books (already have Greek & Roman Mythology set) and the online component will be a good fit for the diverse student population we have here in the high school.”

Chris Morin, School Librarian, Salem High School, MA

“I am really impressed by FactCite: it will be perfect for the Common Core”

Helen Randolph, Pt. Pleasant High School, West Virginia

“Your [FactCite] resources are perfect for sixth grade. Gale Biography in Context is a little too advanced for some of our students.”

Elizabeth Vaccaro, High Rock School, Massachusetts
“[Lincoln Library of Sports Champions] is a really great collection, especially for less-able readers. These books get so much use in our library! We have a really tight budget this year and the new 9th edition is the first thing we wanted to purchase.”

Patsy Taliaferro,
Essex High School, Virginia

“Students and teachers alike find the Lincoln Library of Sports Champions and Lincoln Library of Greek & Roman Mythology wonderful resources for reports, classroom use and just browsing and reading for pleasure. They are a great addition to our library collection.”

Deanne Vance, M.A., M.L.S.,
Liberty Hill High School/Liberty Hill Middle School, TX

The Lincoln Library of Greek and Roman Mythology is an indispensable reference set for my library. It provides critical information to meet the Greek and Roman mythology California Content Standards in English-Language Arts for grades nine and ten. It is visually appealing, student-friendly, and includes a list of gods and goddesses with both Greek and Roman names. The Table of Associations links gods to concepts with which they are associated, and the Table of Word Origins enable students to make connections between modern analogies, such as Achilles’ heel, and their origins.”

Debra Budding,
Teacher-Librarian, Modesto High School, California

“[Lincoln Library of Greek and Roman Mythology] is excellent! It is used by every 9th grade English class in our school (we have 480+ 9th graders)!”

Carolyn Nilsson,
Halifax County High School Library, Virginia

“We find the Lincoln Library of Sports Champions set to be a high interest biography resource and its format appeals to students at a variety of reading levels.”

Anne Schaller,
West Carrollton High School Library, Ohio

“[Lincoln Library of Sports Champions] is truly a great set. I have one boy who is working himself through the entire set. He is a slow reader, but he comes in glowing every time he is ready for his next volume.”

Vicki Headley,
Media Specialist, Kennedy Middle School, California

“The Lincoln Library of Sports Champions is an excellent resource, especially for our 8th graders’ research papers. For some historic athletes, it is the only print resource available. It is so popular with our students that we keep two sets in our library.”

Sheila Richardson,
Ashe County Middle School, North Carolina
“During Black History Month, The Lincoln Library of Sports Champions is used in all of the 10th grade English General classes plus the Special Education classes. Even though your company may be small, the quality of Lincoln Library titles is outstanding!... Thanks for printing books that students will use!”

Carolyn Nilsson,
Halifax County High School Library, Virginia

“Our users have been fans of [The Lincoln Library of Sports Champions] ever since our first set dated 1981. The resource is used quite frequently because it is easily readable and replete with illustrations—the surefire combination that makes for a truly accessible reference for our students and teachers....and I assure you, with its updated format, the [seventh edition] will be more popular than ever!”

Loida Canlas,
Model Secondary School for the Deaf, Washington, D.C.

“Our students like The Lincoln Library of Sports Champions because it is a single comprehensive source for information about sports figures, especially those who are less well known. We were happy to update our set with the new edition.”

Loren Adams,
Tuscarora Elementary School Library, New York

“Nothing works better for our students’ local sports biography research than The Lincoln Library of Sports Champions...and now that we see some of the athletes who have been added to the seventh edition, I’m sure we will be expanding its use.”

Judy Speedy,
Gateway Middle School, Monroeville, Pennsylvania

“The Lincoln Library of Sports Champions is such a wonderful collection of sports biographies—perfect for our middle school students!”

Julie Liggett,
Cedarbrook Middle School, Elkins Park, Pennsylvania

“I’m very pleased with The Lincoln Library of Sports Champions. Students enjoy reading about their favorite sports heroes and it’s also great for research assignments.”

Darla Swain, Media Specialist,
Brownfield Middle School, Texas

“Our media center likes Lincoln Library of Sports Champions because it includes popular personalities from all sports. Our freshman class does a writing project...and these volumes become a good starting point for any student who chooses a sports personality for their project.”

Deann Otten,
Nashville Community High School, Nashville, Illinois

“I looked for a new edition of The Lincoln Library of Sports Champions for our library because it’s been a popular resource for students doing biography reports for years. The new edition includes many of the current stars students are looking for.”

Olivia Grizzle,
Northwestern Middle School, Alpharetta, Georgia
