- Audio: [Gentle, upbeat electronic music plays in the background.]

[00:00:03]

- Visual Description: The screen cuts to the MackinVIA digital library homepage dashboard. The dashboard features a top navigation bar with tabs labeled "Home,"

"Explore," "Groups," "Categories," and "Backpack." Underneath, a banner reads, "Welcome to MackinVIA!" Above a grid display of colorful book covers, row headings read "Most Popular eBooks & Audiobooks," "Coding Camp," and "Maker Challenge: Story Engineering." A mouse cursor moves up to the top navigation bar and clicks on the "Explore" tab, prompting a drop-down menu to open. The menu shows options for "eBooks," "Audiobooks," "Videos," "Read-alongs," "Databases," "Links," and "Explore All."

- Audio (Narrator): Let's take a closer look at the Explore menu.

[00:00:07]

- Visual Description: The cursor moves down the drop-down menu list and hovers over "Explore All." The user clicks "Explore All," and the page reloads to show a screen titled "Explore Titles." The page is divided into two columns: a left sidebar labeled "Filter Results" (listing formats like eBooks, Audiobooks, Databases, Links, and Videos) and a main library grid displaying a massive collection of book covers.
- Audio (Narrator): To see all the resources your school owns, just click "Explore All."

[00:00:11]

- Visual Description: The cursor glides over to the top-right corner of the interface and points to a toggle button that looks like a small stacked checklist menu. The user clicks the button. The presentation instantly switches from a grid layout to an elongated vertical list view. Audio (Narrator): You can use the toggle button to switch between tile view and list view
- Audio (Narrator): You can use the toggle button to switch between tile view and list view.

[00:00:17]

- Visual Description: The screen remains on the list view. The first entry is a title called "Discovering Relativity" by Brezina, Corona. It features a brief text summary, a five-star rating, and a blue button on the right that reads "Read Now," followed by smaller links for "Add Favorite," "Checkout," and "eBook Details."
- Audio (Narrator): List View gives you at-a-glance information about each title.

[00:00:21]

- Visual Description: The cursor moves back up to the same toggle icon in the right corner and clicks it again, changing the view back to a clean grid of colorful title covers..

- Audio (Narrator): Title View makes it easier to browse visually and see lots of titles at once.

[00:00:27]

- Visual Description: The cursor travels to a drop-down selector located next to the view toggle button. The drop-down menu is currently set to "Highest Rated." The user clicks it, showing alternative organization options: "Resource A-Z," "Resource Z-A," "Author A-Z," "Author Z-A," "Newest," and "Highest Rated." The user selects "Newest," and the grid instantly updates its arrangement
- Audio (Narrator): You can sort both views by title, author, newest or highest rated,

[00:00:33]

- Visual Description: The cursor then moves over to the top-left section of the grid layout and clicks a small drop-down menu that currently shows the number "60." A micro-menu reveals choices to limit displayed grid items to "12," "36," or "60" items per page. The user clicks "12." The grid screen instantly shortens, displaying only 12 items on the first page layout. The user clicks it again to revert to "60" items.
- Audio (Narrator): and you can choose how many resources you want displayed on your screen. So you can organize the collection in a way that works best for you.

[00:00:42]

- Visual Description: The cursor pans over to the left-hand column sidebar under "Filter Results" and hovers directly over the section labeled "Resource Format."
- Audio (Narrator): You can also explore by resource format using this filter.

[00:00:46]

- Visual Description: The cursor slides back up to the main horizontal menu at the very top of the window and clicks the "Explore" drop-down tab again to show the format options.
- Audio (Narrator): Or, directly from the Explore menu, choose eBooks, audiobooks, videos, read alongs, databases, or links.

[00:00:56]

- Visual Description: The top drop-down menu closes. The cursor moves down to the grid of books and hovers over the bottom-left corner of individual book jackets. A tiny round icon flashes green for a Read-Along and blue for an eBook.

- Audio (Narrator): Each resource format has its own icon on the cover image.

[00:01:00]

- Visual Description: The cursor hovers over a circular green text icon located on a green book cover titled "When Grandmother Flew." A tiny black tooltip appears over the book that reads, "Read-Alongs." Next, it hovers over a circular blue icon on a book jacket titled "I Am Smart, I Am Good, I Can Write Now!" revealing a black tooltip tag that says "eBooks."
- Audio (Narrator): If you forget what an icon means, just hover over it for a helpful tool tip.

[00:01:06]

- Visual Description: The cursor moves to the upper-right corner of the dashboard screen and clicks on a field drop-down titled "Keywords" inside the text search bar. A menu drops down displaying options: "Keywords," "Title," "Author," "Series," "Subject," and "Topic/Genre."
- Audio (Narrator): If you are looking for something specific, type a keyword title, author, series, subject, topic, or genre in the search box,

[00:01:14]

- Visual Description: The cursor clicks back into the empty text field alongside the keyword descriptor, and the name "Kate" is typed out. A dynamic prediction window appears below the text box, displaying names such as "Riggs, Katie," "Marsico, Katie," "Petelinsek, Kathleen," "DiCamillo, Kate," and "Roth, Kate."
- Audio (Narrator): and suggested matches will appear as you type.

[00:01:18]

- Visual Description: The grid area displays books related to the author search. The cursor returns to the left-hand column under "Filter Results" and clicks on "Interest Grade Level," which opens a nested checklist of grade designations ranging from Pre-K up to Grade 8. The user ticks a checkbox alongside the number "4," filtering the layout to "34" matches..
- Audio (Narrator): Narrow your results using one or more of these filters, such as interest, grade level,

[00:01:24]

- Visual Description: The user keeps scrolling down the filtering column menu on the left side and clicks a checkbox under the "Availability" tab marked "Available (32)."
- Audio (Narrator): availability,

[00:01:28]

- Visual Description: The user scrolls further down the left menu column to find "Date of Publication." It features a horizontal slider bar with two adjustment bubbles. The user clicks and slides the left circle forward, shifting the start parameter from "1993" up to "2006," and hits a blue text indicator labeled "Apply."
- Audio (Narrator): date of publication,

[00:01:32]

- Visual Description: The user scrolls further down to the "Number of Pages" filter slider scale, clicks the left slider node, pulls it up to the right to mark "51" pages, and hits a blue "Apply" button. The results grid updates to display exactly "8" filtered books.
- Audio (Narrator): and number of pages.

[00:01:36]

- Visual Description: In the left column sidebar, small round pink circles with white "X" marks are visible next to active filters like "Number of Pages." The cursor clicks an "X" symbol to remove that specific filter, instantly refreshing the book grid view. The user changes several checkboxes in the menu on the left, turning different options on and off to tweak the search layout.
- Audio (Narrator): Remove filters one at a time to adjust your search,

[00:01:41]

- Visual Description: The cursor then goes up to the top header of the left column next to "Filter Results" and clicks on a round pink wheel icon featuring a white "X" inside it. All active filters vanish instantly, and the center layout updates to show "90" distinct book covers for the search query "Kate." The cursor returns to the right search panel and hits the "X" next to the magnifying glass button to refresh the dashboard display, removing the keyword search.
- Audio (Narrator): or clear them all at once to start fresh.

[00:01:46]

- Visual Description: The user scrolls down the left filter selection column past "Language," arriving at "Reading Grade Level." The user clicks and slides the range bubble bar outward from "0.4" to "5.8" and hits the "Apply" link. Then the user goes down to the "Accelerated Reader" sub-filter category on the left, slides the parameter metrics forward to span between "3.6" and "5.9," and hits the "Apply" link button.
- Audio (Narrator): If your administrator has turned on the reading level filters, you can search using any of those as well.

[00:01:59]

- Visual Description: The user scrolls up the left sidebar menu to the "Resource Features" section and unfolds its options, displaying a checklist that includes "Text-to-speech," "Nonfiction," "Fiction," "Reflowable Content," "Interactive," "Read-along," and "Narrated eBooks." The user checks the boxes next to "Read-along" and "Nonfiction."
- Audio (Narrator): You can also filter by resource features like nonfiction, fiction, reflowable, or interactive content, and read-alongs.

[00:02:08]

- Visual Description: The cursor travels to the top header line and selects the "Explore" tab menu dropdown, then clicks on the option labeled "Databases."
- Audio (Narrator): When you're searching databases.

[00:02:11]

- Visual Description: The user enters the Databases archive view, presenting grid blocks representing various platforms like "Abdo Zoom," "SIRS Issues Researcher," and "TumblePremium." In the top-right search input box, a text field appears that reads: "Search Inside Databases." A pink message prompt stretches across the viewport saying, "Deep Discovery Search must be turned on by an administrator."
- Audio (Narrator): You can use deep discovery search to look through all your school's participating databases at once.

[00:02:17]

- Visual Description: The user types the phrase "Mariana Trench" inside the database search text box and initiates the query.
- Audio (Narrator): Just type in a topic to see how many results each database has.

[00:02:22]

- Visual Description: The screen displays single vertical rows for individual databases paired with customized button indicators on the right side. The row for "SIRS Issues Researcher" shows a blue button that states "Show 35 Results." The row for "United States Geography" shows a button reading "Show 2 Results," and "Gale In Context: Middle School" has a button displaying "Show 179 Results." The cursor hovers over and clicks the blue button for "SIRS Issues Researcher." The layout transitions to a plain blue-accented "Database Search Results" page, displaying an indexed list of hyperlinked article headers matching the term "Mariana Trench," including "What is an ocean trench?" and "Thousands of new species found in the Mariana Trench." The cursor selects "Mariana Trench." The video quickly jumps to an external reading window for Gale In Context, showing an academic article block titled "Mariana Trench."
- Audio (Narrator): Then click show results to see the articles and titles.

- Visual Description: The screen switches back to the primary database search results page. The cursor moves up to the "Abdo Zoom" row window entry, which displays a teal-colored button on the right stating "Open Now."
- Audio (Narrator): If a database says "Open Now," it means there weren't any matches, but you can still open it to start a new search.

[00:02:37]

- Visual Description: The screen shifts to a white background transition page with a large blue graphic text title displaying "Resource Details." It transitions back to the classic MackinVIA dashboard screen showing a massive library layout arrangement. The cursor hovers over a book titled "The Super Bowl" by Allan Morey and clicks it.
- Audio (Narrator): Click a resource

[00:02:40]

- Visual Description: An individual text overview page for "The Super Bowl" opens. The page includes a column for book metadata, a 4.44-star rating display, and several functional control buttons lined up vertically on the right: "Read Now," "Add Favorite," "Checkout," and "Cite!" The cursor moves down and triggers the "Checkout" button.
- Audio (Narrator): to read now, add to favorites, or check it out to save it for yourself, or read offline.

[00:02:45]

- Visual Description: Book profiles swap to "The Jungle Book" by Crystal S. Chan. Because it is unavailable, its primary control button is a gray bar reading "Preview," and its third button option down is labeled "Request," with a small clock icon. The right profile shows "The Super Bowl" available book page with a blue "Read Now" button and a standard "Checkout" link.
- Audio (Narrator): If a single user resource is already checked out, you'll see preview instead of read now and request instead of checkout.

[00:02:55]

- Visual Description: The screen returns to full frame on "The Super Bowl" book profile details page. The user triggers the "Checkout" option button. The page instantly alters, showing a green checkmark next to the book cover image, and the right option column updates with an orange message line reading: "Return Expires 11/28/2025." The user hits the left arrow button labeled "Back" to return to the broad index collection menu grid. Looking closely at the lower-left edge of the "The Super Bowl" cover square on the grid page, a bright green icon shield containing a white checkmark is clearly visible.
- Audio (Narrator): When you check out a resource, a green check mark appears on the cover to show it's checked out to you.

[00:03:02]

- Visual Description: The cursor moves across the grid page to hover over another book jacket title card called "The Invention of Hugo Cabret." Overlaid directly in the middle of this book graphic is a red circle crossed by a diagonal line
- Audio (Narrator): If someone else is using a title, you'll see a red circle with a line so you know it's not available right now.

[00:03:09]

- Visual Description: The user clicks on the "The Invention of Hugo Cabret" book square, pulling up its summary details window. The right-side command menu features a vertical column of options: "Add Favorite," "Request," and "Cite!" The user clicks the "Request" action button.
- Audio (Narrator): You can click on the title to request it,

[00:03:12]

- Visual Description: The option button updates to a gray block displaying "Cancel Request." Over on the left side of the screen, a small gray circle icon featuring a white clock face is now visible on the book jacket art graphic.

- Audio (Narrator): and the label will change to a gray clock to show your request.

[00:03:16]

- Visual Description: The cursor moves to the top-right section of the menu layout bar and clicks a round profile icon labeled with the letter "E." This switches to an account dashboard profile overview page titled "Elena." The profile details an email entry inside the field box for "Notification Email" that reads: "elena.sanchez@wildcat.edu."
- Audio (Narrator): If you entered an email when you registered your backpack,

[00:03:19]

- Visual Description: The view switches to a mockup sample layout of an automated email notification message. It features a bold black title header reading: "Good News! There Is A Title On Hold In Your MackinVIA." A bright pink informational pop-up bar states: "Admin must activate push notifications to enable the email feature." Underneath, it lists the details: "Title: The Super Bowl, Author: Morey, Allan."
- Audio (Narrator): you'll get a notification when the title is available.

[00:03:24]

- Visual Description: The dashboard view cuts back to the primary MackinVIA dashboard screen. Up on the top header navigation menu link labeled "Backpack," a red square notification box displays the number "1." The user clicks the "Backpack" tab dropdown option link to show its selection options: "Favorites," "Checkouts," "Assignments," "Requests," "Notebook," "Class Sets," and "History." The cursor moves down and hits the tab marked "Requests."
- Audio (Narrator): An alert will also appear in your backpack letting you know your request is ready.

[00:03:29]

- Visual Description: The window changes to the Requests tracking dashboard page, displaying a grid container holding the single requested book cover graphic for "The Invention of Hugo Cabret." The cursor moves over the book card jacket artwork and clicks it. The page changes to the detailed page layout view for "The Invention of Hugo Cabret." The right button options column displays a prominent bright blue button reading "Listen Now" alongside other tracking buttons like "Add Favorite," "Checkout," "Cancel Hold," and "Cite!" The cursor moves down and triggers the "Checkout" action link button, causing a green checkmark icon graphic to emerge over the left-hand book cover illustration.

- Audio (Narrator): Then you can check out the resource to read now

- Visual Description: The cursor then navigates back to the top horizontal bar menu, hits the "Backpack" dropdown, and clicks the sub-option link labeled "Checkouts." This opens the individual user's active Checkouts library compilation tracker layout, showing two book graphic card covers: "The Invention of Hugo Cabret" and "The Super Bowl."
- Audio (Narrator): or leave it under checkouts to return to later.

[00:03:37]

- Visual Description: The user clicks on the top primary horizontal menu option link for the Explore tab, and selects "Explore All." The user is back on the generic library overview list tracking grid page. The cursor scrolls down the page grid and chooses a pink book cover for "Mamie Tape Fights to Go to School: Based on a True Story."
- Audio (Narrator): When you click on a title, you open the full record window.

- Visual Description: The book information page opens. The page displays the book cover, a tracking tag reading "Available: 1/1," a descriptive paragraph summary block text panel, and a row of three dashboard utility tabs located in the center of the screen: "eBook Details," "Notes & Highlights," and "Bookmarks." The cursor hovers over and selects the center options tab reading "Notes & Highlights."
- Audio (Narrator): Here you'll see how many copies are available, a summary of the resource,

- Visual Description: The section reloads beneath the primary overview tab bar, displaying personal notes and annotations logs. The page displays logged study indicators: a square white action button option reading "Add a Note" and a drop-down menu reading "Export Notes." Below these, individual review markers show past reading milestones, such as "Start Reading - Page 16 of 22 - Last Edited: 11/24/2025," followed by highlighted text excerpts and a short custom text entry reading "theme repeated."
- Audio (Narrator): any notes, highlights, or bookmarks you've added

- Visual Description: The cursor glides over to the right side of an active note block entry line and clicks on a small round icon button displaying three gray horizontal tracking dots. This opens a small pop-up sub-menu with two basic icons: a gray notepad icon with a pencil for editing, and a tiny trash can icon for deletion.
- Audio (Narrator): along with tools to edit or delete

- Visual Description: The cursor moves to the right and clicks on the blue "Export Notes" dropdown menu block, which opens a vertical menu listing three options: "Save to Google," "Save to OneDrive," and "Print."
- Audio (Narrator): and export.

- Visual Description: The user scrolls down through the detailed list of past reading logs and notes shown on the page. The cursor moves over a text link "Start Reading" above "Page 6 of 22," then over a text link "Start Reading" above "Page 16 of 22."
- Audio (Narrator): You can also open the book to start reading on the page with your note.

- Visual Description: The "Bookmarks" tab opens to show saved entries tracking reading progress, page numbers, and dates edited. The cursor clicks on the "Start Reading" link for bookmarked page 10, and the book opens to that page. The cursor points to the bookmark icon, which is red because it is marked. Then the main menu is opened from the top-left of the screen and the cursor clicks on "Return to MackinVIA."
- Audio (Narrator): ... or bookmark.

- Visual Description: The screen displays the main resource summary page for the children's book titled "Mamie Tape Fights to Go to School: Based on a True Story" by Traci Huahn. The book cover features an illustration of a young Chinese-American girl in 19th-century attire standing near a schoolhouse. On the right side of the screen, an interactive action menu lists options including "Read Now," "Add Favorite," "Checkout," and "Cite!" The cursor moves to click on "Cite!", prompting a pop-up window to appear containing formatted citations in MLA, APA, and Chicago styles. The cursor clicks the "X" button to close the pop-up.

- Audio (Narrator): Copy a citation for the resource and check out any student ratings.

- Visual Description: Beneath the book title, a series of five outline stars representing student ratings is visible, displaying text that reads "4.38 Star Average (16 Ratings)." The cursor hovers over the stars, sequentially highlighting them in bright gold from left to right. The cursor clicks on the fifth star, and the display text immediately updates to a "4.41 Star Average (17 Ratings)," confirming the new rating has been submitted.
- Audio (Narrator): If you'd like to rate the resource yourself, just click one star if it wasn't your favorite, all the way up to five stars if you loved it.

[00:04:23]

- Visual Description: The cursor moves down and clicks on the "eBook Details" tab. The page scrolls downwards to reveal structured metadata fields, including "Coauthors," "Pages (22)," "Publisher," "Date of Publication (2025)," and a comprehensive list of hyperlinked "Subjects" (e.g., Biographical fiction, Chinese Americans-Fiction, Historical fiction). As the page continues scrolling, we see rows for "Topic / Genre," "Categories," "Languages," and "ISBN."
- Audio (Narrator): It's a fun way to share your favorites and help other students discover books they might love too. Here in the full record window, you can also explore title details

[00:04:36]

- Visual Description: The cursor hovers over the blue text link for "School & Education (Juvenile Fiction)" under Topics. Clicking this link takes the user to a filtered search results page titled "Explore Titles," showcasing a grid view of book covers matching that educational category.
- Audio (Narrator): and launch related searches by clicking on bold attributes.

- Visual Description: The grid of book covers blurs out as bold, stylized 3D text reading "EBOOK formats" glides into the center of the screen against a vibrant purple and blue gradient background. The transition clears away to reveal a new digital library catalog page. The sidebar on the left displays filtering options with numbers of available items. The cursor filters the digital catalog by checking a box labeled "5" under "Interest Grade Level" in the left sidebar menu. The library results refresh, displaying age-appropriate titles. The cursor moves to select a book cover titled "The Adventures of Odysseus" by Hugh Lupton. After arriving at the book profile page, the cursor clicks the blue "Read Now" button. The interface shifts into an e-reader view, displaying an open two-page book spread with an illustration of a woman with long red hair standing near the ocean under a bright yellow sun on the left, and a text section on the right adorned with a graphic of a sailing vessel. Large light-blue text overlays the artwork reading "FIXED LAYOUT." A small purple graphic at the bottom center of the window explicitly reads "FIXED LAYOUT."

- Audio (Narrator): As you explore, you'll come across a few different types of ebook formats each designed to support reading in different ways.

- Visual Description: The cursor clicks the page to reveal a toolbar that contains various control icons. A progress slider bar stretches across the bottom, indicating page "58 of 98." In the toolbar, the cursor clicks the page layout icon, which resembles two overlapping rectangles. This changes the display from a two-page spread to a single-page view centered on the left page illustration of the red-haired woman by the sea. The layout button icon shifts to show a single rectangle.
- Audio (Narrator): Fixed layout titles keep their original page design and let you switch between one page

- Visual Description: The cursor clicks the layout icon once more, smoothly reverting the display to the full two-page spread showing both the illustrated woman and the sailing ship side-by-side.
- Audio (Narrator): ...or two page view,

- Visual Description: The cursor shifts along the bottom toolbar to the right and clicks a magnifying glass icon containing a plus sign. This "zoom-in" tool causes the digital pages to enlarge significantly on the screen, magnifying the text and shifting the view closer into the illustration of the ship's mast and sails.
- Audio (Narrator): zoom in

[00:05:00]

- Visual Description: The cursor clicks the "zoom-out" magnifying glass with a minus sign, resetting the e-reader view back to its standard full-frame size.
- Audio (Narrator): ...and out,

[00:05:01]

- Visual Description: The cursor then moves to the far left to click the play button. This opens an audio playback bar in place of the main toolbar.
- Audio (Narrator): and listen with text-to-speech

- Visual Description: The user clicks the triangular play button situated at the far left of the control bar. Instantly, the first line of text on the left page—reading "Surely some god or goddess was smiling on me"—is highlighted with a bright translucent yellow marker overlay as the narration begins.
- Audio (Karen TTS Voice): "Surely some god or goddess was smiling on me..."

- Visual Description: The cursor moves to the voice selection dropdown menu, which says "Karen," and clicks it. This opens a scrolling list of optional narrator voices. The voice is changed to "Daniel," and the text narration switches to a deeper male voice.
- Audio (Narrator): adjusting the voice

- Visual Description: The highlighted yellow box automatically advances to the next section of text: "Somehow I made my way out of those straits..."
- Audio (Daniel TTS Voice): "Somehow I made my way out of those straits"

[00:05:11]

- Visual Description: The cursor moves over to click the playback speed setting menu, which currently shows a default value of "1x." This displays a vertical list of speed modifiers ranging from 0.5x up to 2x; the cursor adjusts the speed multiplier to "1.25x."
- Audio Narrator: ...and speed.

- Visual Description: With the playback speed set to 1.25x, the yellow highlight moves rapidly across the text block as the accelerated male voice reads the passage quickly: "...before the whirlpool began to suck me down again."

- Audio (Daniel TTS Voice): "...before the whirlpool began to suck me down again."

- Visual Description: The cursor moves to the left side of the playback bar and clicks a square stop icon, pausing both the text-to-speech audio and the yellow on-screen highlighting. The user clicks the upper-left menu button and hits "Back to MackinVIA" to close the e-reader and return to the individual book page for "The Adventures of Odysseus."
- Audio (Narrator): (Narrator pauses as the playback is stopped and the book is closed.)

- Visual Description: The screen transitions back to the "Explore Titles" search result list, displaying a new filter configuration with the "Reflowable Content" filter selected. From the 15 matching titles, the cursor selects a novel cover titled "Clean Getaway" by Nic Stone. The screen changes to the specific resource page for the book. On the right side, the cursor moves directly up to the blue "Read Now" button and clicks it. The digital reader loads a book presentation featuring black-and-white comic strip graphics alongside text blocks. Large light-blue text overlays the artwork reading "REFLOWABLE". A small purple graphic at the bottom now reads "REFLOWABLE."
- Audio (Narrator): "Reflowable eBooks can adapt text to any screen size for a more personalized reading experience."

- Visual Description: The reflowable e-reader interface opens to the first chapter of "Clean Getaway," titled "Route 1: Quite a Ways to Go." The cursor clicks the page to open the reader toolbar, then clicks on the "Aa" icon to open the text and display customization settings. The cursor clicks the larger "A" button, causing the book's text size to instantly grow larger.
- Audio: (Narrator) In reflowable titles you can click the A to adjust the font size

[00:05:30]

- Visual Description: The cursor clicks the font style drop-down menu labeled "Default" and selects "Open Dyslexic" from the list, instantly changing the book's typeface to a heavy-bottomed font style designed to assist readers with dyslexia.
- Audio: (Narrator) and style

- Visual Description: The cursor moves to the horizontal brightness slider bar and drags the circular adjustment knob slightly to the right, changing the screen luminance.
- Audio: (Narrator) brightness

- Visual Description: The cursor moves over the background theme swatches, selecting "Sepia" to turn the pages a warm tan hue, and then clicking "Black" to shift the layout into a high-contrast dark mode with white text on a solid black background..
- Audio: (Narrator) and background color.

- Visual Description: The cursor closes the text customization settings to return to the main reader toolbar.
- Audio: (Narrator) Back in the main toolbar

[00:05:43]

- Audio (SFX): [The audio module activates, playing a realistic recording of wild birds chirping.]

[00:06:04]

- Visual Description: The screen transitions to a page from a different interactive children's book, featuring a vibrant cartoon illustration. A small brown rodent-like animal with rounded ears stands on a rocky ledge beneath a snow-covered mountain peak. A large, transparent blue water droplet hangs precariously from an icy shelf right above the animal's head. The cursor moves up and clicks directly on the water droplet.
- Audio (Narrator): or clickable activities that make your reading experience even more engaging and hands-on.

[00:06:06]

- Visual Description: When clicked, an animation is triggered, causing the large water droplet to fall from the ledge and land directly on the cartoon animal's head with a vibrant splash effect.
- Audio (SFX): [A digital splashing "bloop" sound effect plays.]

- Visual Description: Following the splash animation, the cursor moves down to click directly on the cartoon animal itself, highlighting its form against the mountain backdrop.
- Audio (Narrator): that make your reading experience even more engaging and hands-on.

[00:06:11]

- Visual Description: Clicking the animal activates a vocal audio track. The cartoon creature opens its mouth, and an expressive, high-pitched character voice speaks the dialogue lines printed on the left side of the screen.
- Audio (Interactive Character Voice): "Eek! The glaciers are melting! The glaciers are melting!"

- Visual Description: The screen transitions to another illustrated page of an interactive storybook, depicting a cheerful brown dog holding a bone in its mouth while sitting in a vibrant farmyard setting next to an old leather boot filled with flowers. The text on the page reads, "Tea-kettle, Tea-kettle, the Carolina wren sings... Wren recycles. How about you?" A cursor floats near the center of the scene as the page automatically turns from right to left with a paper-flipping animation effect.
- Audio (SFX): [A crisp sound of a book page flipping plays.]

- Visual Description: The new page reveals a desert landscape under a dark starry sky, featuring a large saguaro cactus with white flowers blooming on its stalks. Several small owls are nestled within hollows in the cactus body. On the right edge of the screen, an overlay panel titled "More Options" is visible, showing a list of resource links: "Resources," "About This Book," "Share This Book," and "Book Info." The cursor clicks on the top choice, "Resources." This opens a dedicated resource dashboard view titled "Fun Reader" in the top-left corner, with a link next to it reading "Back to Library." The layout is divided into dark blue rectangular category panels titled "Videos," "Documents & Weblinks," "Puzzles & Games," and "Reading Questions." Under the "Videos" section, a white asset card is visible, labeled "Nature's Way of Recycling | Amazonia" with a small red YouTube playback logo underneath. The cursor clicks on this card, which launches an embedded media player showing a dynamic nature documentary scene of a beetle moving across forest foliage.
- Audio (Video Music): [Energetic, upbeat tribal drum music plays from the video window.]

- Visual Description: The media player window closes, and the screen transitions back to the "Explore Titles" page. In the left-hand sidebar under "Resource Features," a checkbox labeled "Read-Along (71)" is marked with a red checkmark. The grid gallery displays various illustrated book covers, including

"The Adventures of Beekle: The Unimaginary Friend" by Dan Santat, which the cursor clicks to open.

- Audio (Narrator): You'll also come across Read-aAongs,

[00:06:28]

- Visual Description: The cover art depicts a small, white, cloud-like creature wearing a small golden crown, standing against a colorful, whimsical background. The cursor moves up to the prominent blue button labeled "Read Now" and clicks it..
- Audio (Narrator): books that read aloud to you.

- Visual Description: The e-reader layout opens to a beautiful double-page illustration showing a group of whimsical imaginary creatures—including a green dragon, a panda wearing a drum, and the small crowned cloud creature—gathered together under a large, vibrant rainbow cutting through yellow clouds. Large light-blue text overlays the artwork reading "READ-ALONGS." A small purple graphic at the bottom center reads "READ-ALONGS."
- Audio (Narrator): while highlighting each word on the screen.

- Visual Description: The large textual overlay fades away, leaving the illustration completely clear. The cursor clicks to open the reader toolbar, which displays standard media player functions: a play button, a page layout toggle, and zoom-in and zoom-out tools.
- Audio (Narrator): This makes it easy to follow along, learn new words, and build confidence.

[00:06:39]

- Visual Description: The cursor moves to click the play button turning it into a pause icon. Instantly, an audio track of a narrator reading the text begins, and a bright green box highlights the very first word of the passage, "He," against the page background. The narration continues smoothly, and the green highlight box advances synchronously with each spoken word.
- Audio (Read-Along Voice): "He was born on an island far away..."

- Visual Description: The cursor glides over to the playback speed configuration menu on the toolbar, which currently reads "1x." The cursor clicks the speed adjustment menu, expanding a vertical menu of optional playback speeds ranging between "0.5x" and "2x." The cursor moves up and selects the "1.5x" option from the vertical pop-up selection list.
- Audio (Narrator): Read-Alongs use human voice narration, plus adjustable playback speed

- Visual Description: The narration text-tracking resumes at a noticeably faster pace, with the green highlight box rapidly leaping over the words "imaginary," "friends," and "were."
- Audio (Read-Along Voice at 1.5x Speed): "...where imaginary friends were created."

- Visual Description: The narration is paused. The cursor moves away from the reader menu bar and travels upward toward the upper-left corner to click on the three-line main menu icon. This reveals the gray navigation sidebar menu options. When "Back to MackinVIA" is clicked, the e-reader screen closes, returning to the resource details page for "The Adventures of Beekle: The Unimaginary Friend."
- Audio (Narrator): So you can follow along at your own pace.

- Visual Description: The cursor moves to the top navigation bar and clicks the "Explore" menu tab, which opens a drop-down menu featuring links for "eBooks," "Audiobooks," "Videos," "Read-alongs," "Databases," "Links," and "Explore All." The cursor moves down and clicks on the "Explore All" option at the bottom of the drop-down list.
- Audio (Narrator): "With Explore, you can browse, filter, and search your school's resources to find exactly what you need, all in one place."

[00:07:05]

- Visual Description: The search gallery page transitions out with a smooth cross-fade effect, revealing a vibrant digital end screen. The background features a striking purple and magenta gradient pattern with diagonal textured lines and small glowing circular bubbles floating around, similar to what was seen at the beginning. In the center sits the multicolored MackinVIA pinwheel logo. Directly below the logo, the phone number "800.245.9540" and the website

"MackinVIA.com" are displayed in clean, white text. The logo, text, and geometric background patterns remain static on the screen and then fade to black.

- Audio: [Upbeat music swells and then fades out.]
